

YEAR 4

Year Four have had a fantastic year and have produced excellent work in all subjects.

We have really enjoyed our history projects. As part of our topic on The Tudors we have written gory newspaper articles about the beheading of Mary Queen of Scots. Our work in English lessons helped us to produce some excellent articles.

A highlight this year has been our in depth look at The Aztecs. As part of our topic the children produced detailed home/school projects. The projects were set out like proper information books, containing facts, maps, and diagrams. The projects were so good that everybody got prizes at the end of it!

Our Geography topic on Village Settlers enabled us to create detailed, 3-D aerial pictures of a settlement in our Art lesson. When we learnt about Travel and Tourism we designed leaflets advertising a tourist attraction on the Costa Del Sol. We also performed a funny assembly about travel and holiday disasters, which taught us the difference between facts and opinions in advertising!

In our English lessons we have produced so much fantastic writing. Our work on 'The Iron Man' by Ted Hughes really demonstrates how much we have developed the content of our writing. We used a lot of powerful adjectives when writing in response to Roald Dahl's 'Charlie and the Chocolate Factory'.

Our Art work has really improved this year. Look at our copies of the famous Van Gogh painting 'A Starry Night', they almost look like the original! As part of our topic on 'A Sense of Place' we drew pastel landscapes, trying to create an impression of depth and texture.

I think you'll agree that we have produced some wonderful work this year!

The Iron Man

I came to the top of the cliff. How far had I walked? Nobody knows. Where had I come from? Nobody knows. How was I made? Nobody knows.

I was taller than a bunch of giants all together. I had my hair shaped like a sandwich with spaghetti all around it. My head was shaped like a very big square. My ears were shaped like two plates on top of each other. My eyes were shaped like two enormous spoons. My torso was very heavy and was as hard as a rock. I had fingers as long as snakes and my legs were as skinny as a pearl. I couldn't walk well because I had an enormous right foot as big as a football pitch.

I swayed in the strong wind wheeling through the sky. I looked around me. I could see a very strange place, it looked amazing but scary at the same time. I felt strange and nervous.

My right foot, my enormous right foot, lifted up and went into nothingness, and there was no noise for a second....

CRRAUUUUASSSS!!

Down the cliff I was banging and crashing everywhere, suddenly my two arms came off, then my legs came and my feet, then I couldn't see or hear because my eyes and my ears had come off, then finally my head came out of the torso, and there was....

SILENCE!

The Aztecs!

By MARI DE LUJO

had many different myths and beliefs. They had many gods and goddesses with them. They believed that the sun went down at night they had to sacrifice to the sun god. They believed that if they didn't sacrifice the sun would come out and the earth would be flat. They thought there were 9 hells.

When they sacrificed they layed the prisoners on a table and they took the heart out put it in a special box. They then cooked the heart and the aztecs believed that the gods made the world.

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory

Character Description of Augustus Gloop

Character drawing

Character description

Augustus Gloop was fat. He had really fat cheeks and he stuffed his cheeks with chocolate. His legs were huge and his hands were even bigger than the chocolate bar. You could see the veins on his jacket instead of buttons because his jacket needed to stretch. He was only 9 years old but he only looked 5 because he was so small with big round chubby face and small goggley eyes. All day Augustus eat chocolate. Sweets and lots of sticky things for lunch, dinner and tea. He had chocolate to eat. Augustus was very very shy and quite but always happy. Sometimes lazy eating more and more each day.
